Races For 7 County Posts

Six contests for county board posts between incumbent supervisors and assistant supervisors who were thrown into the same districts under Madison County's "one-man one-vote" redistricting plan developed today in candidate filing for the Feb. 8 county board primary election.

Two of these contests were in Granite City districts, and there were prospects of more to come.

Oddly enough, 21 Democrats had filed petitions of candidacy for county board posts as of this morning, while petitions had been filed by only two Republicans. Harold Landolt of Alhambra township, now chairman of the county board of supervisors, had not yet filed to day. He is a Republican.

He told the Press-Record yesterday that "I have not yet decided whether I will seek reelection. I think I have had enough and I'm not sure that I'll seek another term. If I file, it probably will be at the last minute. I've had a lot of people after me every day asking me to get in the race." Deadline for filing is 5 p.m. Monday at the office of County Clerk Eulalia Hotz at Edwardsville.

May Not File

This added credence to reports in political circles that Landolt will not seek re-election this year as against H. Jack Franden of Alhambra who already has filed as a candidate for the county board post in district 3. The district is made up of Hamel, Alhambra, New Douglas, Olive, Moro and Ompfong-townships under the redistricting schedule. Franden, who was beaten by Landolt in the 1968 township election by only 12 votes, filed as a Democrat.

Political observers report that Landolt will not seek re-election this year in an understanding with Nelson Hagnauer, Granite City township supervisor, that Landolt will throw his political support to Hagnauer for election as chairman of the new County board of supervisors when the election is over.

If Hagnauer gains the chairmanship, the reports say, Hagnauer will appoint Landolt to a high county tax post. As chairman of the county board, Landolt now is chairman of the Madison County Board of Review.

Under the redistricting mandate approved by the county board earlier this year, the board chairman will receive a salary of $10,000 per year. Board members will receive $40 for each meeting, five pounds instead of the $25 which is now received by the 49 members of the present board.

Auto Chase Ends in Death of Boy, 16, in Crash Here Today

WRECKED AUTO in which a 16-year-old boy was killed and two other teenagers were injured seriously during a chase by Madison police and sheriff's deputies early this morning. Authorities said Johnny Wheelis, 16, of Fulton, Tenn., was crushed beneath the auto when it overturned on Route 157 near SIU-SW. Wingo, Ky., deputies said.

A 16-year-old boy was fatally injured and two boys, aged 13 and 15, were injured as their auto overturned on Route 157 near the entrance to Southern Illinois University-Southwestern at 4:30 a.m. today, ending a police chase which began in Madison at 4:05 a.m.

The three youths were in an auto reported stolen in Wingo, Ky.

Killed was a boy tentatively identified as Johnny Wheelis, 16, of Fulton, Tenn., thought to be the driver of the car. He reportedly was trapped beneath the overturned car and was crushed.

He was pronounced dead on the scene by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Werner.

Injured were Rickie Keeling, 13, Pryorburg, Ky., and Thomas Jones, 15, of Wingo, Ky.

The Keeling boy, who is in poor condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital, was believed to have been thrown from the auto. The Jones boy, pulled from the car by police, is in satisfactory condition at the local hospital.

Madison police first noticed a dark auto with Kentucky license plates at Elizabeth and Greenwood Streets at 3:30 a.m. today with the occupants apparently acting in a suspicious manner. The motorist drove away, eluding a patrol car.

All Madison squad cars were alerted to watch for the car and at 4:05 a.m. the auto again was seen in the 1200 block of Alton Avenue, northbound.

The patrol car followed it to Greenwood and Kennedy Drive, where it allegedly failed to stop for a stop sign. The police then displayed red lights and turned on the siren and the auto speeded up.

It allegedly failed to stop for a stop sign at Kennedy Drive and Washington Avenue and turned north on Washington. All Madison police cars joined in the chase, which proceeded to Madison Avenue and north into Granite City.

A Madison County sheriff deputy's car set up a roadblock near the Bowland Lanes, 3050 Namooki Road.

The car reportedly went around the roadblock at a high rate of speed and proceeded north to East Chain of Rock Road and toward the SIU-SW campus.

Route 157 near the campus entrance, the auto went out of control.

Walters (R-Alton) jointly announced Wednesday that Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie has released $300,000 for purchase of land for the Southwestern campus of Southern Illinois University. Ogilvie released the money

State Rep. Robert J. Walters (R-Alton) today announced that Governor Richard B. Ogilvie has released $1,600,000 for construction and equipment of the Southern Illinois University School of Dental Medicine at the Alton branch of SIU-SW.

Release of the full allocation by the governor will enable the new professional school to receive accreditation this fall and to begin classes in June 1972, Rep. Walters said.

A dental school accreditation team is checking SIU-SW today and tomorrow.

The $1,600,000 will permit completion of renovation of buildings on the former Shurtleff College campus in Alton and also will allow purchase and installation of technical equipment needed for the dental school.

Gov. Ogilvie granted the full amount requested by SIU and the Illinois Board of Higher Education for the dental school program.

SIU-SW officials estimate the new facilities — the state's first Downstate Illinois dental school — will be used for about ten years. The Final School of Dental Medicine location in the meantime will be established on the main SIU-SW campus in Madison County to be opened as the Shurtleff dental site is phased out.

Townships Plan Alternate Way To Get Sewers

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

A decision to seek required planning agency approval of their own plans for development of a township sanitary sewer program for Nameoki, Venice and Chouteau Townships — without awaiting further developments in the Granite City secondary sewage treatment program — was reached late yesterday afternoon in a meeting of officials of the three townships and their engineers.

The township program, sponsored by Madison County, calls for construction of sewer lines in the three-township area to tie in with the interceptor lines feeding into Granite City's treatment facilities. Township residents would pay a rental fee for treatment to Granite City and also to finance sewer construction.

Acting on a suggestion by Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter Sparks, the township group instructed its engineer, Edward Juneau of the Shepherd, Morgan & Schwab engineering firm, to file with the Southwestern Illinois Area Metropolitan Planning Commission and with the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, two sets of plans and reports.

These are to cover alternative projections for construction of sewers and interceptor lines in both the township areas and in Granite City.

The action followed discussion of the possibility of long delay by Granite City in construction of its proposed secondary sewage treatment facilities which, in turn, could delay accomplishment of the township program unless the townships were to act independently of the city at this time.

Sparks said the township action in no way would interfere with the city program, and in no way would contradict the township's prior commitments to the city.

Attending yesterday's session were Sparks, Juneau, Harold Landolt, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors; Arthur "Cooper" Moore, supervisor of Venice Township; and Louis

Illinois House Votes to Split Levee District

The Illinois House approved at Springfield yesterday by a vote of 97 to 6 a bill to split the Madison County Levee and Sanitary District. County sectors of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District.

The bill now goes to the Senate where a minimum of 30 votes is needed for passage.

House approval of the bill, which was introduced early this year by State Rep. Horace Calvo of Granite City, followed floor action late last week in which Calvo succeeded in removing amendments that would have killed the intent of the original measure and create a study commission to investigate the feasibility of the proposed levee district division.

Senator Sam Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, said he will spearhead support of the measure in the senate.

As passed, the measure provides for creation of two separate levee districts, one consisting of the area of St. Clair county now located within the district, and the other made up of the Madison county area of the present district. The Quad-City townships of Granite City, Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau make up most of the Madison county area.

Paying High Cost

The bill, which was co-sponsored by State Rep. Leland J. Kennedy, D-Alton, and State Rep. Robert Walters, R-Alton, was filed at the request of Madison county residents who maintain they are paying a disproportionate share of levee district costs in comparison with the services received.

The legislation has the support of William "Mike" Ebersold of Venice, president of the levee district. The district now is operating with only three members since the death of George Duff of East St. Louis a month ago.

The levee district operates on a budget of about $2.5 million per year, nearly half of which goes to retire bonds issued prior to 1950.

The measure also would increase the salary of the levee district president to $6,000 and the salary of the trustees to $4,800. The president now receives $2,000 and the trustees $1,000 per year. It would remove the present limit of $3,500 on salaries of levee district attorneys.

GASP Members Clean City in Area Hike

Thanks to 19 Granite City High School students, downtown Granite City and several miles of streets are a little cleaner.

The Group Against Societies Pollution (GASP) spent Saturday on a 15-mile hike, picking up paper and other refuse. The hikers were sponsored by area persons who paid varying amounts for each mile walked. The youths will use their earnings to buy trees, extra trash cans and books on Ecology for the library.

The hike brought the hikers $100 in cash and $100 in pledges. GASP has been in existence at the high school for two years.

Name Architects to Rebuild GC High School Auditorium No Breakthrough Yet on Personal Property Tax Law

The Granite City Board of Education Monday night chose the firm of Gabriel & Dulgeroff, Inc., to plan the rebuilding of the Granite City High School auditorium, destroyed by fire Nov. 30, 1970.

Tully A. Heubner, director of buildings and grounds, reported to board members that recent estimates received from insurance companies are in line with estimated rebuilding costs and only a few points remain in question before an insurance settlement is reached and planning for the rebuilding can begin.

In other business the board approved the purchase of an automatic clothes washer and dryer and a gas range for home economics classes at the high school from State Radio & T.V. Co. for $524. The bid was accepted from among three bids received. Refrigeration Supplies Inc., bid on the three items at $539 and Sears, Roebuck & Co., bid on the dryer only for $164. The State Radio bid was for $190 on the washer, $139 on the dryer and $195 on the range.

Buy Pottery Wheels
A low bid for two pottery wheels for the high school art department was accepted from A. D. Alpine, Inc., for $680. A $595 bid from the Blackwell Pottery Co. was rejected because it did not meet specifications, and a $685 bid from White's Ceramic Studio was turned down for the lower Alpine bid.

A $232 steel drying rack for the art department was purchased from Process Supply Co., the low bidder of three companies who bid on the contract.

Other bids were Lawson Printing Machines, $237, and Dick Bick Co., $311.

A request to advertise for high school electrical shop equipment was declined when Heubner informed the board that most of the items requested are available from present school district maintenance supplies. The board authorized Heubner to furnish what supplies were on hand to the school and to order those items not in stock.

A permit requested by Illinois Power Co. to install a street light at the corner of the Logan School Annex was approved by the board. The permit is required for the utility to install an overhead line from a light pole over the corner of the annex property.

Bills totaling $3,088 for tuition reimbursements from the educational fund and a bill from Ed Moore Construction Co. of $4,535 from the building fund for temporary fire repair damage at the high school were ordered paid by the board.

Homecoming Program Set at SIU-Carbondale
"We've Only Just Begun," is the theme for Homecoming weekend Friday and Saturday at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

The traditional format for Homecoming has been omitted from this year's agenda, according to Paul Costello, chairman of the Homecoming Steering Committee.

"What we are trying to provide is weekend that will appeal to many diverse sections of the student population," Costello said.

The theme was selected in order to represent the change taking place among youths as a result of the 18-year-old vote and the ecological and cultural movements that youths are now involved in, Costello said.

Starting the weekend festivities will be an open house beginning at 8 p.m. Friday in the recently enlarged Student Center which will feature several bands in addition to an SIU student folk rock group, Elkins Harris and Tranovsky.

Although the traditional formal Homecoming dance has been excluded from the agenda, there will be several dances on Friday and Saturday nights, including a sock hop at 8 p.m. Friday with Bill Anderson, a St. Louis disc jockey.

Activities on Saturday will include a 10 a.m. parade through Carbondale, an arts and crafts sale from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. consisting of student-made items, and free movies at 8 p.m.

Keeping in line with the theme will be a stage show at 8 p.m. in the Arena featuring the "Carpenters" who released and made famous the hit song, "We've Only Just Begun."

During the Homecoming game beginning at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in McAndrew Stadium, the SIU Salukis will challenge the Drake University Bulldogs. Immediately following the game there will be a reception for students and faculty in the Student Center Ballrooms.

Mr. Haligowski was a maintenance man at the Madison County Nursing Home. Born in Venice, he had lived in the Quad-Cities all his life. He was a member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison and active in the St. Mary's Booster Club.

He is survived by a brother, Leo Haligowski of East St. Louis; four sisters, Miss Mary Haligowski, Mrs. Josephine Bocian, and Mrs. Ann T. Nowicki, all of Madison; and Mrs. Victor (Catherine) Wilhold of East St. Louis.

School Board May Make Administrative Study

Proposals from two consulting firms to reorganize the administrative structure of the Granite City School District were heard by the Board of Education Monday night.

B. J. Davis, school superintendent, said the representatives of the two firms were invited to present proposals for reorganization of administrative positions and salary structure to better prepare the school district to cope with the "shape education will take in the future."

"I would like an outsider's opinion on how we are doing and what we should be doing for the future," Davis said.

Dr. Stanton Leggett, head of Stanton Leggett and Associates, Inc., Chicago, and Dr. Kenneth W. Humphries and Wilbur K. Williams of the Engelhardt and Engelhardt, Inc., educational consultant firm in New York, spoke to the board on the relative merits of the two proposed studies.

Both studies plan to utilize extensive interviewing of principals, administrators and school board members to determine how they feel about their roles in the educational process.

The results of the interviews and questionnaires will be combined with results of on-the-job observations and studies of comparable school districts to determine the effectiveness of the present systems and pinpoint its failures.

Drawing from the collected data, educational consultants prepare new job descriptions for each administrator, defining specific duties and eliminating those present duties which best could be handled by a clerk or other employee.

From the job description, salary ranges will be suggested for each position. Copies of the two proposals were given to board members to study. Action on hiring either firm was deferred.

Venice Awards Contract to Clean Sewers

The Venice City Council Tuesday night tentatively awarded a contract for cleaning city sewers to the National Power Rodding Corp., Chicago, pending a pre-performance conference with the company. The company's low bid was $13,678.75.

Other bids on the sewer job were submitted by Blocker Brothers Inc., of Westmont, Ill., $15,088.50; and The Penetron System, St. Louis, $17,944.95.

The starting date for the project will be determined in the pre-performance conference.

The council endorsed a proposed location for a new state office building on land which William F. Nichols has offered to donate at Route 111 and State Aid Route 35 adjacent to Lakeside Airport.

Nichols, operator of Nichols Net and Twine Co., has offered to donate the land for the state building as an alternative to a proposed site in downtown East St. Louis.

Best Location

The Venice council agreed that the Nichols tract, because of its location, is convenient to the greatest number of persons and has environmental advantages such as open spaces, available parking and highway approaches that serve the downtown area.

Copies of the resolution, endorsing the Nichols site, are being forwarded to Governor Ogilvie, the Illinois Building Authority and the Illinois General Assembly serving the City of Venice.

The McKinley bridge report for the month of October, indicated a total of 230,743 vehicles using the bridge, for a daily average of 7,476.

Approval was given by the Council to the New Salem Baptist Church to hold a parade Nov. 14, from their old church at 208 Brennan St. to the new church in the 1300 block of Klein street.

Mayor John E. Lee extended his thanks to everyone in the city, young and old alike, for "having a real wholistic Halloween." He particularly thanked the children, for their behavior and the Venice police for extra protection efforts.

Benjamin Honorable, civilian defense director, reported that a residential school will start in Edwardsville, Ill. on the first Monday in January; and that representatives from the fire and police departments would attend.

He said that all arrangements have been completed that would allow an emergency helicopter to land on the baseball diamond in Lee Park within 10 minutes after notification was received at the police station of an emergency.

The Venice Council will meet again at 8 p.m., Nov. 16, in the city hall.

Work Under Way on Treatment Financing

Mayor Donald Partney is working on a financing program for the Granite City secondary sewage treatment plant that cannot be disclosed at this time, city council members were told in regular meeting Monday night.

"If just one person spoils a few words around it could really spill the beans," Alderman Walter Nonn remarked in advising the aldermen that "the less that is said about the pollution plant until all the work is done the better it will be."

In referring to the pollution plant, Nonn was speaking of the city's proposed secondary sewage treatment facility which, under a mandate of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, must be built and in operation not later than Dec. 31, 1973. Engineers have estimated the cost at $15.3 million.

Although Nonn suggested that "the city should be given a chance to work things out" without too much public discussion of the procedure involved, the council discussed the problem for about 15 minutes. Neither the mayor nor other council members appeared reluctant to talk about the program and its financial problems.

Alderman Clyde Boyd asked when the council members might expect "some kind of a report on what is going on concerning finances and other problems pertaining to the project."

"We have a plan," Nonn answered. "It's going to be a plan and a luck." He did not explain further.

Mayor Partney told the council he had been misquoted in an article Monday concerning his plan to seek financial help from county sponsors of a township program to hook township sewers into Granite City treatment facilities.

The mayor explained that he did not expect advance financial aid from the townships for primary and secondary treatment, but hoped that the townships could proceed with a plan to build an interceptor sewer system as soon as possible for use of the city's present primary treatment plant "and follow up with secondary treatment later."

In this way, the mayor explained, the city could expect earlier assistance in the form of financial payment for treatment of township sewage, thus aiding the city in its development of the secondary treatment system.

Mayor Partney did not have the same reluctance as Alderman Nonn in discussing financial problems now confronting the city in full development of plans for the secondary treatment plant, which is halted at the moment by lack of funds for engineering fees.

The city has completed preliminary plans and reports which have been filed with state and federal agencies, but needs an additional $400,000 for finalizing detailed plans and specifications and the accompanying supervision and inspection work during construction.

The mayor said after the meeting that Nonn's mention of a financing program apparently was in reference to a plan for officials to meet this week with representatives of a bonding firm to discuss procedure of a bond issue which will be necessary to finance the city's share of the $15.3 million secondary treatment program. The city's share is based on the presumption that the city will receive 50% of the cost in federal grants and 30% in state grants.

The city proposes also to build interceptor sewer lines that would connect with sewers to be built under a township sewer program in Venice, Namooki and Chouteau Townships.

The township plan, sponsored by Madison County, would pay Granite City rental fees for treatment, eliminating the necessity of building a separate treatment plant for use by the townships.

The townships also want to build the interceptors, but have agreed with Granite City that if its plans are approved by the governing agency, the township group will "go along" with city interceptor construction and tie in with those interceptors.

The preliminary plans prepared for the city by the M-W Engineering firm of St. Louis includes interceptor construction by the city.

Mayor Partney said that "if we can get the interceptors in first, then we can begin getting fees (from township sewer users) and help the financial picture."

The city presently expects to issue revenue bonds amounting to about $2.2 million to finance a share of the project, since it is unable to obtain advance grants under the state and federal anti-pollution program.

Alderman Clyde Boyd asked when the council members might expect "some kind of a report on what is going on concerning finances and other problems pertaining to the project."

"We have a plan," Nonn answered. "It's going to be a plan and a luck." He did not explain further.

Mayor Partney told the council he had been misquoted in an article Monday concerning his plan to seek financial help from county sponsors of a township program to hook township sewers into Granite City treatment facilities.

The mayor explained that he did not expect advance financial aid from the townships for primary and secondary treatment, but hoped that the townships could proceed with a plan to build an interceptor sewer system as soon as possible for use of the city's present primary treatment plant "and follow up with secondary treatment later."

In this way, the mayor explained, the city could expect earlier assistance in the form of financial payment for treatment of township sewage, thus aiding the city in its development of the secondary treatment system.

Mayor Partney did not have the same reluctance as Alderman Nonn in discussing financial problems now confronting the city in full development of plans for the secondary treatment plant, which is halted at the moment by lack of funds for engineering fees.

The city has completed preliminary plans and reports which have been filed with state and federal agencies, but needs an additional $400,000 for finalizing detailed plans and specifications and the accompanying supervision and inspection work during construction.

The mayor said after the meeting that Nonn's mention of a financing program apparently was in reference to a plan for officials to meet this week with representatives of a bonding firm to discuss procedure of a bond issue which will be necessary to finance the city's share of the $15.3 million secondary treatment program. The city's share is based on the presumption that the city will receive 50% of the cost in federal grants and 30% in state grants.

The city proposes also to build interceptor sewer lines that would connect with sewers to be built under a township sewer program in Venice, Namooki and Chouteau Townships.

The township plan, sponsored by Madison County, would pay Granite City rental fees for

City Limits Work to Use of Domestic Steel

Applying its "home rule" authority under the new Illinois Constitution, the Granite City Council adopted Monday night an ordinance that will require all contractors doing construction work for the city to use domestic steel products.

The ordinance, given final passage by a unanimous vote of the council, provided that in no instance shall contractors doing city work use foreign steel, or products made of foreign steel.

The appointment of Paul Zupan as a member of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board was announced by Mayor Donald Partney who also appointed Aldermen Clyde Boyd and Everett Marley as members of the Civil Defense Advisory Council.

The mayor also appointed Alan Walker, Granite City attorney, as a member of the city's Police Pension Board to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of William Brantley. C-1 business district rather than an R-3 single family district.

Halt Open Burning or Face Action, School Board Told

The focus of air pollution control in Granite City historically has shifted from industry to the schools and, more recently, to homeowners. This week the spotlight turned again on the schools as members of the Granite City Board of Education were warned to halt open burning at all schools or face legal action.

The warning was presented to the board at Monday night's school board meeting in a letter from Prof. Erwin C. Hoelscher, technical secretary of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board, to Carl Macios, school board president.

Hoelscher emphasized that open burning is illegal. "How can you expect to teach children respect for the law when they see you openly breaking it?" Hoelscher asked in the letter.

Warned Previously

He said the board was warned two years ago to take steps to halt open burning, but that the warning was apparently ineffective. "If immediate steps to correct this problem are not taken, I will have no choice but to file a formal complaint," Hoelscher said.

Board members discussed the possibility of installing incinerators at the schools presently without them, but B. J. Davis, school superintendent, said the cost would be prohibitive. To install safety approved incinerators would cost from $6,000 to $7,000 each, Davis said. "It is simply a matter of finances," he said.

He said nine incinerators presently are in operation in schools, but the remaining schools are forced to use burning pits to dispose of paper and cardboard.

He suggested that Tully A. Heubner, director of buildings and grounds, work with air pollution control officials here to establish a program "which would not break the district's budget." Board members requested

Contract Let For High School Site Preparation

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

Modern Asphalt Paving & Construction Co., East St. Louis, was awarded a contract by the Granite City School board Monday night for filling the site of the proposed new high school to be built near Maryville and Nameoki Roads.

The $112,235 contract award is subject to the approval of the architects after an inspection of the equipment and capabilities of the firm, school officials said. The work calls for a "plateau" of fill, about six feet high, to be placed on the site and compressed. The school is to be constructed on the plateau, according to plans.

The East St. Louis company was chosen on a low bid from among five bidders. The second lowest bid was from G. H. Hughes, 20, and Marion Carson. Other bidders were W. L. Wagner Trucking Co., $141,460; M. H. Wolf & Co., $144,500; and L. Wolf & Co., $158,525.

Additional Cost Bid

The bids also included individual prices per cubic yard of fill over the 42,000 cubic yards which architects estimate will be necessary.

Prices quoted include the hauling of fill from the site or other sites, the moving of topsoil from another part of the site, and the moving of fill from a pit on the site.

Tully A. Heubner, director of buildings and grounds for the school district, and architects Henry Gabriel and Sylvester Duigeroff, met in a private session to discuss the bids before recommending to the board that Modern Asphalt be awarded the contract, subject to the inspection.

Architects previously suggested the bid for filling the site be awarded separately at this time rather than including the work in the general construction contract for the school building. "I believe you (the board) can save two to three months by bidding now, weather permitting," Gabriel commented.

To Make Soil Tests

The board also chose the firm of Woodward-McMaster Associates to conduct soil compaction tests throughout the filling of the plateau to insure the base will be solid enough on which to build the school.

The engineering firm was chosen on the recommendation of R. W. MacDermott, soil consultant for the project. Cost proposals from three other firms were rejected. They were Layne-Western Co., Reitz & Jens and Brucker & Thacker.

MacDermott suggested that the Woodward-McMaster firm had conducted previous soil tests on the site and would not have to repeat the work which other firms might have had to do if selected for the contract.

Work on the project is to begin as soon as arrangements can be completed, possibly early next week.

Some 'Freeze' Modifications Before Nov. 13

The Wage-Price-Rent Freeze Program will not automatically end on Nov. 13, according to Jay G. Philpott, district director of Internal Revenue Service for Central and Southern Illinois.

As announced by the Cost of Living Council, the regulations which made the 90-day program a "freeze" will be modified to make the system more effective.

This means, Philpott said, that the present freeze rules on wages, prices and rents will only be changed by the introduction of new regulations—thus preventing a gap that would occur if present rules were allowed to end before new ones had been instituted.

Philpott noted that, as stated in the President's Executive Order of Oct. 15, the provisions of the Economic Stabilization Program which have been in force since Aug. 15 will continue until they are specifically modified by the Pay Board, Price Commission or Cost of Living Council.

Changes will occur only through explicit action taken by competent authority. It is anticipated that initial modifications to the freeze rules will be announced prior to Nov. 13.

Hearing on Pollution Permits Here Tuesday

A hearing on new rules for granting air pollution permits will be held at 10 a.m. Tuesday on the third floor of Granite City Hall.

The hearing, conducted by an Environmental Protection Agency hearing examiner, will be held to obtain responses to proposed new EPA regulations requiring all operating equipment and practices which produce air pollution be operated under state permits. Formerly permits were required only for new and proposed equipment. Only two hearings will be held in the state, the one here and one in Chicago, Thursday, Nov. 11. Representatives of industry from throughout Southern Illinois are expected to attend to oppose the stronger regulations.

Retarded Children's Month Being Observed

Mrs. Richard B. Ogilvie will announce November as being National Retarded Children's Month in Illinois today as she dedicates a new $1-bed community living center for Peoria area retarded adults.

The governor's wife, who serves as chairman of volunteer services for the Illinois Association for the Mentally Retarded, will read the proclamation issued by the governor before dedicating the new $700,000 structure. The Peoria Association for Retarded Children received over 50% of the construction costs for the private facility from state and federal funding.

MORE ABOUT Races for 7

In Granite City districts have developed thus far in Districts 19 and 21 where new district boundaries placed more than one incumbent board member in the same district. In District 19, incumbent assistant supervisors William Webb and Edward G. Johnson have filed petitions of candidacy, while the contest in District 21 lies between Carl H. Roach and Carl V. Buehler, both incumbents and both residents of the newly aligned district.

Hagauer Files
Hagauer has filed petitions as a candidate for District 20, thus far without opposition, although Dan Churovich, an incumbent assistant supervisor, is in the same district. Reliable political sources say that Churovich will not file as a candidate against Hagauer because Churovich's appointment as director of the Madison County Emergency Work program was designed to take care of Churovich and remove him as potential opposition for Hagauer.

So far eight of the 29 county board districts have no Democratic candidates and 27 of the districts are without GOP aspirants.

Filing deadline is 5 p.m. Monday when the office of County Clerk Eulalia Hoyt closes for the day's business. Withdrawal deadline is Nov. 12. Voters will nominate 29 Democratic and 29 Republican candidates for the county's first partisan county board primary election on Feb. 8, with 29 board members to be elected in a general election on Feb. 29.

Conflicts between incumbent board members for nomination in the Feb. 8 balloting had developed today in District 2 (Jarvis, St. Jacob, Pin Oak and Marine townships) between Mrs. Pearl Schock Peters of St. Jacob and Paul O. Riebold, of Troy, both incumbent board members.

Other contests developing from filings this week included: Pete Perica Sr., Alton, and Mrs. Frances M. Roberts, Alton, both incumbents seeking nomination on the Democratic ticket in District 10 which is made up of Alton Precincts 14018-19-20-21-22-23-24-25.

John W. Boren, Wood River, and Robert L. Ford, Wood River, both incumbents seeking nomination on the Democratic ticket in District 12 made up of Wood River Precincts 3-4-10-11-12.

Edwardsville Fight
I. Ted Bennett, Edwardsville, and Hays Mallory, Edwardsville, both incumbents in District 17 which is made up of Edwardsville Precincts 12-5-8-9-12-14.

Other fillings in the Quad-City area include Herbert Milton of Granite City as a Democrat in District 22; Walter Sparks, incumbent in District 16 (St. Louis township); Arthur "Cooper" Moore, incumbent of Madison, filing as a Democrat in District 24.

A contest developed in Namooki township yesterday when Edgar Patrick, now township tax collector, filed as a candidate for county board member against incumbent Louis Whitwell.

Chouteau Township Supervisor Walter Sparks expects opposition from an 18-year-old SIU-SU student who took out petitions earlier this week to file as a county board candidate in District 16.

He is James Greer Jr., whose father is a member of the Chouteau town board of officers. He plans to file as a Republican. Sparks is a Democrat.

Greer is able to run for office because the voting age was lowered to 18 in Illinois, making minors eligible for office. He will be the first minor to run for county office.

MORE ABOUT Townships

Whitwell, supervisor of Nameoki Township.

All agreed that the townships might save considerable time in proceeding now with development of alternative plans—one calling for the construction of interceptor lines by the townships, and another calling only for construction of the township sewers that would be connected with interceptors built by Granite City.

Both plans would be submitted to SIMAPC and to the Gateway Council as soon as possible in a bid for early approval so that the townships would be prepared for the program eventually approved for Granite City by state and federal officials.

No estimates of cost were given in either program. Juneau told the supervisors that the townships would be completed within a month.

He said the township reports for presentation to SIMAPC and the Gateway Council should be ready about the first of the year. As a result, the city plans to build such facilities under a program for which preliminary plans already have been done by the M-W engineering firm at a cost of $102,000 this far.

Madison County, at the same time, is sponsoring its first area-wide sewer development program in Venice, Nameoki, Chouteau and Granite City townships to provide sewerage to Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau Township residents with sewer treatment plants.

The purpose of the meeting will be to organize committees to make plans for a dance in January to aid the children.

The local organization plans to divide the dance proceeds among the children of Dimes, Shrine, Children's Hospital, St. Louis, and the needs of the local children. The meeting is open to the public.

54 Venice Teachers to Refund Pay Rate Hikes

Increased salary rates paid Venice teachers since the 1971-72 school year began Aug. 27 will be deducted from the next five bi-monthly pay checks, the Venice Board of Education decided at a special meeting Monday night.

Payments vary from $96.50 at the lowest level of the salary schedule, to a maximum of $227.50, Supt. of School John O. Pier, said.

So far as can be determined at the present time, a total of 54 Venice teachers and administrators will be affected by the board's new decision, the administrator said.

Scheduled pay hikes, amounting to a $50-a-year increase, were granted by the Venice board in September under terms of a two-year contract which runs through the 1971-72 school year, despite the Federal Wage-Price freeze.

An opinion opposing the board's action given by School Attorney Lawrence T. Hartman at the October session caused the board to reverse its decision, but method of repayment was undetermined until

THE GOING GETS ROUGH. Chris Carena of the Cougars, in white, appears temporarily out of the play, but he wasn't. Seconds later, he scored one of the 13 goals made by the Cougars as they defeated the University of Jacksonville (Florida), SIU-SW then defeated the University of Wisconsin-Parkside 7-0 to improve its record to 8-0-1. Chris' brother, John, who scored three against Jacksonville, is in the left background. It was John's second "hat trick" of the current season.

Speedway Signs New Promoter

A new promoter has signed contracts to operate weekly auto racing programs at the Tri-City Speedway here next year.

Don Robinson, who has been associated with the Benton Raceway in Benton and the Centralia Raceway in Centralia for three years, and Elvis Doolen, track owner, announced this week that contracts for the year have been signed.

Weekly Friday night races for super-sprint and late model stock cars will be held, beginning in April.

Robinson replaces former track promoter Ralph Keesling, president of the Capitol City Racing Association, Jefferson City, Mo., who has been associated with the local track two years. Keesling also was a co-promoter here in 1968.

Robinson resides in Marion, Ill. He was a stock car driver prior to entering the racing business as a promoter.

Plans are being completed to add several United States Auto Club races to the schedule for next year, including sprint and midget events. Robinson told the Press-Record.

Unbeaten Cougar, Bills Soccer Teams Collide Saturday

Southern Illinois University-Southwestern's soccer team, which crushed the University of Wisconsin-Parkside 7-0 in its Oct. 30 homecoming game, a fifth straight shutout and seventh shutout in an 8-0-1 season, has two more games remaining on the schedule.

On Saturday at 2 p.m., the Cougars will travel across the Mississippi River to take on No. 1 ranked St. Louis University. And they will close out their 1971 campaign at home to the University of South Florida.

In their 7-0 victory over Wisconsin, it was a continuation of the Cougars' brutal bombardment of shots-on-goal which had annihilated the University of Jacksonville (Florida) Oct. 28 by a 13-0 score. In that game, SIU-SW outshot its guests from the Sun State, 78-6. The count against the Rangers from Wisconsin was 74-6.

In their nine games to date, the Cougars have outshot their opponents by a truly awesome 390 to 132 margin.

It is all part of Coach Bob Guelker's season plan of applying the pressure to each opponent from the opening whistle and jumping on the mistakes which occur as a result to score.

The plan is working. Against Wisconsin, however, the first quarter ended in a 0-0 deadlock. The Rangers' goal-tender, Tom Thomsen, made five sensational saves and got more than an inkling of what he was in for the rest of the contest.

He ended up making 19 saves, including eight cliff-hangers in the fourth quarter as the Cougars booted a barrage of 24 shots-on-goal while scoring four, including the "hat trick" by John Meyer, senior sub forward. All-American center forward John Carena, brought his season's goal total to 15 as he counted twice. He has four assists.

However, it was his sophomore brother, Chris Carena, who opened the scoring for the Cougars at 7:25 in the second quarter on an assist by John.

Even though the Cougars fired 24 shots at goalie Thomsen in the second quarter, the Rangers were only down 1-0 at the intermission. They grimly held off the hard-pressing Cougars in the third until, at 18:30, Chris Carena scored again on a pass from Tommie Howe.

Less than a minute later (at 19:08), John Carena took a lob pass from Chris and blasted the ball into the cords. The rout was on, even though Wisconsin stopped all pretense of trying to score in the final 22 minutes and pulled every player back on defense.

The University of Wisconsin-Parkside, in case any fan who saw it take its 7-0 blasting at the hands of the Cougars, is no one's patsy. The Rangers are now 4-4-1 for the season and own victories over Marquette, 6-1; Ohio State, 2-0; Notre Dame, 2-1 and the University of Wisconsin-Madison, 3-2.

The Rangers have lost to Quincy College, 2-4; the University of Illinois-Chicago Circle, 0-5; and the University of Wisconsin-Platteville, 0-3, while tying the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, 1-1.

The week before, Green Bay had defeated the Spartans of Michigan State, 3-0, and the Spartans are always a national collegiate soccer power.

Since SIU-SW's deadlock with the University of Illinois-Chicago Circle, the Cougars' overall game has continued to improve, both defensively and offensively.

In fact, the Cougar "fantastic five" defensive unit of Kevin Howe, Tom Galati, Rich Neitzert, Vince Passi and Denny Driscoll has been nothing less than amazing. It has made the job of the Cougars' standout goalie, Rick Benben, a comparatively easy one. In the last five games, Benben has been the loneliest man on the playing field.

For the future, the play of two Cougar freshmen, Paul Gentile and Bob Kesson, has been impressive, and Tim Putnam's performance... as the No. 1 sub... has been sensational. He gets things done.

Tom Twelman, sophomore, who took over the spot vacated by the graduation of Olympian Jack Blake, has been brilliant. There is one dark development: Tommie Howe injured his left knee in the victory over Parkside. His loss from the Cougar lineup could be tough.

NATIVE DRESS AND HOT PANTS competed with more traditional Halloween costumes when students from overseas countries were entertained at a masquerade party at the SIU-SW Religious Center. Hosts were three Granite City families who take part in the International Hospitality Program at SIU-SW.

International Students at SIU-SW Find Halloween Party 'Quite Unusual'

Halloween Night festivities were observed first-hand during the weekend by 80 young people, most of whom were unfamiliar with the traditional American holiday and its enjoyable aspects.

The occasion was a masquerade party for overseas students enrolled at Southern Illinois University - Southwestern campus. The affair was hosted by the International Hospitality Committee, a group of area families involved in a program to foster good international relations with the visiting students.

Principal hosts at the Halloween event were three Granite City families and their international student guests — Mr. and Mrs. John Schroder and Jeff Aidi from Pakistan; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Shelton and K. Krishnan from India; and Mr. and Mrs. William Zimmer and R. Kishan Devoraj from Madras, South India.

The evening of masquerading and gaiety was staged in the new SIU-SW Religious Center on campus.

It was a colorful affair: the scene further brightened by the party-goers themselves, many of whom chose to wear costumes native to their own country.

Other guests were more customary attire, appearing as witches, spooks and monster-men. Prizes were awarded to the "prettiest girl" and "handsomest youth." Ghosts and goblins decorated the walls and a huge carved pumpkin, centering the buffet table, doubled as a punch bowl. Cider, popcorn, donuts and coffee were served the 80 guests. Entertainment included live music and dancing, with many students demonstrating the ethnic dance styles prevalent in their homeland. Two American girl students played guitars and taught the others several folk ballads. A mysterious fortune teller attracted a constant stream of curious patrons and movies featuring "Dracula and the Wolf Man," added more festive impact to the seasonal event. "It certainly," was the unusual party," was the remark most frequently heard by the hosts as the foreign students said their farewells.

Several women also displayed Yuletide decorating ideas and gift wrapping designs. Recipes were exchanged and the cookies were sampled as part of the dessert course.

Mrs. Carme Froemling, Rotary Anns president, was in charge of a short business session. Cards of appreciation were read from guests invited to the club's fall picnic, including notes from Mrs. Helen Broadway, a former member now living in California. Mrs. Maxine Anderson of Belleville and Mrs. Ella Kilton of Peoria, wife of the Rotary International district governor.

Plans were completed for the annual Christmas party, to be combined with the regular meeting on Dec. 7. The event will take place at the home of Mrs. Froemling, 61 Oaklawn Drive.

A committee appointed to arrange the party consists of Mrs. Froemling, Mrs. Lorraine DeCatur, Mrs. Dee Smith, Mrs. Dorothy Shelton and Mrs. Ruth Polson.

Also present at this week's meeting were Mesdames Georgia Bauman, Lois Winter, Jean VanMetre, Ellen Aubrey, Marie Reinhardt, Clara Huber, Nila Norton, Valerie Stevens, Helen Stover, Margaret Hillard, Mary Wilkins and a guest, Mrs. Keith (Ellen Mae) Curtis.

Madison Seniors Mark Birthdays

Arrangements of autumn flowers and fall leaves on tables covered with bright, colorful cloths were used this week to decorate Lee Wright Home recreation center, Venice, for a birthday luncheon honoring six members of the Senior Citizens Club of Madison.

An avid organic gardener, Mrs. Bell uses her own experiences as the basis for her lectures which she has been presenting to organizations and church groups the past two years.

The guest speaker represents two ecological groups active in the St. Louis region—the Coalition for the Environment and the Committee for Environmental Information.

The Rev. W. F. Reipschlag, pastor of the host church, will give the invocation, with Mrs. Paul Krenz and Mrs. Paul Gordon giving the readings.

Madison Jr. Service Tea Honors 23

Madison Junior Service Club held its first "Past Presidents' Reunion" since the club was organized in 1935 at a tea given this week at the First United Presbyterian Church of Madison. Twenty-three of the group's 35 past presidents attended.

Among those honored was Mrs. L. C. Harlan who organized the Madison women's club 36 years ago and still serves as its active sponsor. Pink and green, the club's colors, were used to decorate the tables, with an arrangement of pink carnations and greenery as the centerpiece on the main table. Individual bud vases, holding single carnations, completed the attractive decor.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Elvera Stagner, the current president, who presented each with a pink carnation and a specially designed name card written by Mrs. Fanny Fisk.

After a short speech of welcome, Mrs. Stagner gave each guest a letter opener, engraved with "MJS-71," as a memento of the reunion. The carnation centerpiece was presented to Mrs. Harlan as a special gift.

Presiding at the silver coffee and tea services were Mrs. Shirley Clark and Mrs. Janet Shultz. Hostess at the punch bowl was Mrs. Dorothy Smith.

Finger sandwiches and homemade cookies arranged on silver trays were served by Mrs. Billie Bosworth, Mrs. Irene Hackett, Mrs. Shirley Doza and Mrs. Fanny Fisk. All are active members of the club.

Scrapbooks of past years were displayed. The past presidents were invited to view the books and later were given clippings and photographs of special interest to them.

More Regional Centers Treating Critical Injuries

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield — Progress "could not be better" in setting up a statewide system of trauma centers for treating the critically injured, according to the surgeon in charge of the program.

In barely four months, eight regional trauma centers throughout the state have been designated and six of them are already operational, having admitted 2,000 patients in that time, says Dr. David R. Boyd. He is chief of the division of emergency medical services and highway safety in the state department of public health.

A new computerized system of record keeping, Dr. Boyd said, indicates that the mortality rate in trauma cases in Illinois is now 2.2%, the same rate being achieved in Vietnam field casualties, a figure usually held as a goal for civilian treatment of wounds and injuries.

Already operational in the overall regional trauma program are centers at St. John's Hospital in Springfield; Doctor's Memorial Hospital in Carbondale; Loyola University Hospital in Maywood; Cook County Hospital in Chicago; Evanston Hospital in Evanston and St. Francis Hospital in Peoria.

Expected to be in operation this month are centers at St. Anthony's Hospital in Rockford and Burnham City Hospital at Champaign.

Phase I of the statewide trauma center program will be completed when Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago and the University of Chicago Hospital are brought into the program.

Once the regional trauma centers, all related to university health education centers, are activated, the next step will be establishment of area-wide trauma centers, more than half of which are expected to be designated by early next spring, Dr. Boyd said. Limited local operations will be the final step.

Establishment of the trauma center program is being jointly financed by a $600,000 grant from the U. S. department of transportation, matched by a $600,000 grant from the state.

One of the chief aspects of the program, Dr. Boyd said, involves making better use of existing facilities and equipment, rather than adding expensive new facilities.

By the consolidating of services and personnel, the program will benefit by receiving more rapid, expert treatment for his injuries.

Also, hospitals which have been maintaining expensive but somewhat non-effective emergency room services will benefit by being able to reduce emergency room costs.

He added that cooperation within a community is the essential key to success of the program, since the public health department actually controls the program for the benefit of the local community — but will not move into a community and make arbitrary decisions about locations of centers.

Among the highly specialized equipment being utilized in the trauma centers are helicopters, advanced "emergency room" ambulances, data phone linkups and computerized trauma information files.

GC Junior Service Tea, Home Tour Set Sunday

A "home tour and tea," using the theme "Many Moods," will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. sponsored by the Granite City Junior Service Club. Proceeds from the fund raising project will provide money for the club's charitable endeavors.

Four homes are included in the tour itinerary. Those participating in the affair are asked to schedule their final visit to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kiril Kirchoff, 18 Oaklawn Drive, where tea will be served.

The Kirchoff residence is furnished in a French provincial style with many antique items from around the world displayed in each room.

Other houses to be viewed will include those of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Robertson, 3408 Princeton Drive; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Konzen, 3302 Princeton Drive; and Dr. and Mrs. F. B. Dioneda, 2657 Cleveland Blvd. Yellow and greens are used predominately in the Robertson home with the furniture a mixture of French provincial and traditional.

Early American furniture is the preference of the Konzen family and the Dioneda home is furnished in contemporary style accented with furniture, pictures and accessories from the Philippine Islands.

Donation for the tour and tea is $1.50 per person. Tickets are available from any Junior Service member or at homes listed on the tour.

Masquers 'Aladdin' Show Sunday at Trinity Hall

"Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp," the opening presentation of Masquers, Inc. to kickoff its 12th season, will be given at 1 p.m. and again at 3 p.m. Sunday, at Trinity Hall in Madison. Tickets to both performances will be sold at the door for 50 cents.

The production is directed by Al Erickson with three Granite City girls as members of the cast.

Debbie Bair, a senior at Granite City High School, plays "Adora," the leading princess. She gives a refreshing and delightful portrayal of a young and rich princess pursued by an evil magician. Miss Bair has also appeared in "The Fantastics," a musical production by The Eastbank Players.

Annette Tarpoff is a member of the townspeople in the show and Donna Vail is cast as Noona, the first lady to the princess.

Other members of the cast include Mike Lewis, Jay Frey, John Melford, Sydney Hamilton, Andy Belobradic, Marsha Melford and Marella Zagnelli.

Two performances of the show were staged last month in Collinsville.

Children are thrilled with the visual effects of "genies" appearing in a puff of smoke, castles flying through the air and a magic cave filled with jewel-covered trees, a Masquers spokesman noted.

Broadcasts from Past are Heard

"You Can Hear It Now," a long playing record depicting the years 1933 to 1945 as a capsule in time, which opened with quotes by Will Rogers and closed with remarks of former U. S. President Harry Truman, provided the program for Xi Zeia Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Tuesday evening.

The program was given by Miss Hazel Towery in her home, 1705 Spring Ave. The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Ruth Seymour. The group voted to send a $10 donation to the Madison County Mental Clinic to purchase Christmas gifts for elderly patients in sheltered homes. They also discussed a Christmas dinner party, to be held Dec. 7, with members later returning to the home of Mrs. Seymour for a gift exchange.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Annabel Chestnut, Geraldine Cox, Helen Law, Ella Reynolds, Martha Santurro and a guest, Mrs. Helen Kutecky.

SIU Group to Present Shakespeare Comedy

The University Theater at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern will present "A Midsummer Night's Dream" Nov. 9-13 at 8:15 p.m. in the Communications Building theater.

Free tickets are available at the University Center information desk. Reservations may be secured by calling (618) 692-3090.

William Vilhauer, associate professor of speech and theater at SIU-SW, is directing the Shakespearean comedy and Alvin White III, assistant professor of dance, did the choreography.

The play opens in Athens as the wedding plans for Duke Theseus and Hippolyta, queen of the Amazons, are being made. Jim Davis of Godfrey is cast as Theseus. Hippolyta is played by Tracey Dunn of Edwardsville.

Other characters entering Act I are Egeus, distraught father of Hermia, who claims Lysander has bewitched her and caused her to fall in love with him. She is already promised to Demetrius. The cast also includes Wendy Turgeon, attendant to Hippolyta, and Ava Mallet, dancer. Egeus is portrayed by Harry Stephens, Hazelwood, Mo., and Hermia by Amy Seiber, Belleville. The Anthony, Little Rock, Ark., plays Lysander, and Demetrius is played by Robert Gibson, Wood River.

These 4-H's, who have worked hard to complete their projects and record books, will be recognized for their efforts. The program is open to the public and all 4-H's, leaders, parents, and friends of 4-H are urged to attend.

John Hunter of the Bank of Edwardsville will present the Banker's Award to the winner of the 4-H demonstration contest. The Key Club award, the highest Illinois state award that a 4-H'er can receive, will be presented.

Mrs. Mary Knecht, former associate extension adviser in home economics, will be the guest speaker for the evening. She will show slides on her recent trip to Germany.

Bruce Carrell of Collinsville, formerly of Greenville, S.C., is serving as chairman of the contest, and will announce the winners on Monday, Nov. 8. Those named as the voters' choice will receive a trophy.

This is the first project of the fraternity, which is newly organized.

Music World -- Patti LaBelle Back, New Group Acclaimed

By JUDY HUGG
Copley News Service

The pop world seems to revolve around groups made up mainly of males, but there are a number of female groups making their presence felt of late.

For example, put together three young ladies whose mutual love of gospel and rhythm and blues music has been the dominant force in their lives for the last 10 years and you have LaBelle.

Here's a pyrotechnical vocal ensemble whose renaissance in 1971 combines traces of their past life as Patti LaBelle and the Bluebelles with the music consciousness of today.

Before looking at the new LaBelle, let's drag out the old reliable time machine and travel back to 1961.

The place is Philadelphia, a city that was famous at that time for Fabian, Frankie Avalon, the Orions, Bobby Rydell and Chubby Checker.

While Frankie was singing about his "Dina" and Chubby was teaching the country to twist, Patti and Cindy Birdsong were in a group known as the O'Jays and Nona Hendryx and Sarah Dash were performing with the Delfonics.

Often playing the same clubs, the four girls became close friends and decided to get together and form their own group, thereby giving birth to Patti LaBelle and the Bluebelles.

The girls signed with New Town Records and soon recorded "I Sold My Heart to the Junkman," a song that quickly became an R&B classic and is remembered in many quarters for its incredibly high-pitched and sustained harmonies.

The girls followed "Junkman" with a string of hits that included "You'll Never Walk Alone," "Down the Aisle," "Danny Boy" and "Over the Rainbow," all of which helped them become one of the most popular and sought-after groups on the soul circuit.

In the years that followed, Patti and the Bluebelles played the legendary Apollo Theater in Harlem 20 times, a feat that earned them the title "Sweethearts of the Apollo."

It was at the Apollo that Kit Lambert of Track Records was first knocked out by Patti and the Bluebelles, waiting for the right time to sign them.

The first big chance in the life of Patti's group occurred in 1967, when amidst all the sequins and choreography, Cindy traded in her Bluebelles wings to become a Supreme. Undaunted by the loss, Patti, Nona and Sarah went about looking for a replacement.

They auditioned hundreds of girls. However, after all was sung and done, the girls decided that they could make it as a trio.

In 1970 came the second and third changes.

Dewey Obermeier Jr. Earns Eagle Scout Rank

Dewey Obermeier Jr., 15, son of Dewey Obermeier, 1827 Third St., Madison, has received his Eagle Scout Award in ceremonies at the United Methodist Church, Madison, sponsors of Boy Scout Troop 90.

Participating in the Eagle ceremony were Mark Velling, district scout executive; Bud Shaffer, troop committeeman, and the Rev. Don Bogue, pastor of the church.

Young Obermeier is a sophomore at Madison High School where he plays in the band. He also is a senior officer in the James Stuart Chapter, Order of DeMolay, and active in the Junior Achievement program.

Obermeier has been scouting for four and one half years, beginning as a Cub. He is a brotherhood member of the Order of the Arrow, scouting's national honor camping society, and has attended Camp Sunnen the past four summers with his troop.

most important change in their life and in the music of Patti. The girls finally escaped all of their contractual obligations, thus clearing the path for Lambert and Vicki Wickham of Track to step in and fulfill their ambition of working with the group.

The girls went off the road, headed for England and concentrated on the universal bond that held them together—music. A newfound concentration, without the live, is readily apparent in their performance, for now the girls don't have to worry about what to do with their hands and feet, their vocals evidence new depths of emotion and understanding.

The rebirth was completed with the change of their name to LaBelle, connoting that all three girls were sharing equally in the making of some toe-stomping music.

The name was also changed for certain logistical reasons, for it seems that in the past Patti LaBelle and the Bluebelles became a tongue-twister for many announcers and on marquee it came out in such weird configuration as Pappy LaBelle and the Flowers.

Then in 1971, the circle came full cycle.

LaBelle performed in person for the first time in over a year in front of a small select gathering of friends and record company types.

Warner Bros. was so delighted by the girls' in-person excitement and overall musicianship, that they stormed the Track office with a recording contract.

The girls signed, flew to California to cement the new relationship and, with the aid of producer Vicki Wickham, supervised the "recording" of their debut single, "Morning Much Better" — "Shades of Difference" and their album, "LaBelle."

Then back to performing went the girls, teaming up with The Who.

Which was no easy task—playing before an audience that was primed for a powerful English rock group.

Well, LaBelle not only entertained the young folks, but bowled them over.

Never ones to look back, Patti, Nona and Sarah now look to the future with an optimism that is and should be shared by all those who have either heard and/or seen the new LaBelle.

It's definitely a No. 1 group that should get in on and be heard from in the future, whether it be live performances or on their well-done albums.

Assumption High Show To Run Four Nights

The Assumption High School Theatre Department will present the Hart and Kaufman comedy "You Can't Take It With You" for four nights beginning today. This is the first play to be staged since the production of "Hello, Dolly!" last April.

The show is a 1930's slapstick comedy about a family living in a grand old house during the Depression. Every member of the family has at least a tinge of insanity, such as collecting snakes in the dining room or writing plays because a typewriter was delivered to the house by mistake eight years ago.

The cast has representatives from Althoff, Collinsville High School, St. Ursula's, Edwardsville and St. Teresa's Academy. Show time will be at 8 p.m. every night, with a 1:30 matinee Sunday. General admission will be $1.50. Assumption is located at the intersection of Illinois Highways 50 and 111 between East St. Louis and Belleville.

'Winthrop' to Play at Friday Night Y Dance

The YMCA Teen Town will feature "Winthrop" at its weekly dance Friday night. The group has played at the "Y" on one other previous occasion, attracting a large crowd.

The dance will be held from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. "Arrow Memphis" is booked to play the following Saturday, Nov. 13.

McCarthy May Campaign in Illinois

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service

Springfield—The Statehouse is intrigued by a report out of St. Paul that former Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy has decided to bid again for the presidency and has chosen Illinois as one of three key states in which to launch his new campaign.

Should this occur it would add another fascinating factor to what has been shaping up as one of the weirdest presidential years in this state's history.

Once again there is a strong indication that in 1972 Illinois Democrats may have their most exciting primary campaign in almost 30 years.

Illinois is increasingly mentioned in national political commentary as the most important single key state in the 1972 presidential campaign. President Nixon, it is known, has stressed to the highest GOP political leaders in Illinois that he absolutely must carry this state if he is to be re-elected.

Democrats regard it as scarcely less important. But Illinois is even more significant as far as Democrats are concerned because it is regarded as the private political preserve of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, last of the old-style big-city bosses and who is certain to be a center of controversy at the party's national convention and in developments preceding it.

It is this factor that would make a McCarthy entry into Illinois, perhaps via the preferential primary or as a bid for convention delegates, a matter of national significance.

He would be making a direct challenge to Daley on behalf of the Democratic liberal faction and, if successful here, would once again become a force to be reckoned with at the convention.

So far, it is indicated McCarthy will make his first moves toward gaining the presidential nomination in Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania. But neither of the other two can match Illinois in significance.

At the Statehouse it is considered likely that McCarthy would tie in any Illinois presidential effort with the independent candidacy for governor of walking Chicago attorney Daniel Walker, who has persistently vowed to challenge the Daley forces in the primary.

Daley, of course, has about as much use for McCarthy as he has for Walker and would like to clobber one or both in any primary test.

He probably has the power to do so, but still there is a possibility that the primary could evolve into a pro or anti-Daley referendum — and a McCarthy-Walker combination might roll up enough votes to embarrass the mayor and threaten the November chances of his own candidate for governor.

A serious McCarthy foray into Illinois would also put on the spot such fair-weather liberals as U. S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson III and Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, current front-runner for the governor nomination.

A strong McCarthy showing in Illinois would not only put a liberal squeeze on the reluctant Adlai, but could have the effect of removing him from any serious consideration for the nomination for vice-president.

As for Simon, it is taken for granted at the Statehouse that he would have to roll up a huge primary plurality over Walker or face the prospect of an exceedingly close race against Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie in the fall.

Nervous Democrats hope McCarthy will stay out of Illinois, but he is a man who has always followed his own script—and it usually contains some surprises.

Added Training For University Security Staffs

By JOAN MURARO
Copley News Service

Springfield—University police who may previously have devoted most of their attention to traffic and parking problems are now joining law enforcement officers from city and county agencies throughout Illinois in short, intensive crash courses in riot control.

The courses are being conducted by Illinois State Police and get under way in October, with the first sessions held in Chicago and Joliet.

During the remainder of the two-year period in which the course will be offered, the sessions will move around the state to bring the training close to those who wish to take it.

Each session runs for five days, four of them devoted to classroom study and the fifth and final day spent in the field for training, which includes instruction in the latest innovations in mob control weaponry.

Among the items the trainees are trained to use is a stun gun, which fires a half-pound "bean bag," intended to discourage without seriously injuring rioters.

The program will be offered 48 times in all over the two-year period, and is designed to train a maximum of 2,600 county, city and campus law enforcement officers.

Total cost of the program is $88,777, of which $34,777 is provided by the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission. The remaining $54,000 provided by the state department of law enforcement.

All aspects of prevention, detection and control of civil disorders are covered in the program.

A total of 35 state police are working on the program, 32 of them as members of eight-man teams and the remaining in supervisory capacities.

Representatives of the National Guard provide a brief program, basing about an hour during the classroom phase of the program, and representatives of local human relations commissions also sit in on the training.

Only agencies which already have, or are developing, police-community relations programs are eligible to participate in the training program.

Programs which satisfactorily complete the program are then eligible to seek fund grants from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission to enable them to purchase equipment similar to that they have been trained in the program to use.

Gen. Catton Speaker At Mayors' Meeting

Common concerns of civilian communities and the military has prompted General Jack J. Catton to join the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors in encouraging honest communication, integrity and patriotism as "fundamental to success of this nation."

Speaking at a meeting of 55 mayors and staff members at Scott Air Force Base, Gen. Catton, commander of Military Airlift Command, said many people don't know that "the military doesn't establish national policy... our job is to serve the policy conceived by our civilian leadership."

The general spoke of the emerging national strategy to spend less for national defense and more towards solution of domestic problems. "Presently, the defense budget is at its lowest percentage in the past 20 years," he said.

General Catton told the mayors, "we share many things in common as leaders of large segments of the American people," but he said, "we must also share a common confidence in this free country."

Calling MAC the "Military Airlift Community," the general cited common problems and challenges his "community" shares with the civilian population, including community improvement and social welfare obligations.

The worldwide command has more than 85,000 people spread over 400 locations in 40 countries, with headquarters at Scott, the meeting site of the mayors.

Republicans' Harmony Theme Showing Results

By KEN WATSON
Copy News Service
SPRINGFIELD—The unity effort by Illinois Republicans, believed to be prodded by no less a personage than President Nixon, on himself, is producing some concrete results.

The latest significant development is the heading off of a traditional GOP free-for-all in filling a Congressional vacancy in the heavily Republican 15th district in Northern Illinois.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie had a hand in the matter along with area political leaders and legislators. One of the more prolonged feuds in the top levels of the party was also laid to rest in the process.

A sensitive problem resulting from the recent Congressional reapportionment also appears to have been solved as a result of the overall agreement.

The threat to GOP harmony in a region vital to statewide success developed with the appointment of Charlotte T. Reid of Aurora by President Nixon to the Federal Communications Commission.

Although everyone was pleased with the advancement of the attractive and popular Mrs. Reid, party leaders statewide as well as in the district itself were fearful at the prospect of another intra-party bloodletting such as occurred in filling the last district vacancy in 1962. Wounds from that battle are still not completely healed.

Republican nomination is tantamount to election in the six-county district and six GOP hopefuls, including four major contenders, were in the 1962 primary scramble.

Mrs. Reid's husband, Frank R. Reid Jr., emerged the winner in a close and bitter primary but died before the November election.

Mrs. Reid succeeded him on the ballot, won handsily, soon made her mark in Washington and had been returned without difficulty at each succeeding election.

But with her appointment to the FCC, the state appeared set for another fight.

Her son-in-law, George Lindner, was in the race and a number of others showed interest—including state Sen. Robert W. Mitchell of Oswego and Clifford C. Carlson of Geneva, Republican central committee man for the district.

Court approval of a Congressional reapportionment plan favored by Republican legislators further complicated the situation.

Veteran Congressman Leslie C. Arends of Melvin, in the neighboring 17th district was placed in the new 15th.

The wheels of political compromise began to spin. Ogilvie, who must run well in the cluster of Republican counties southwest of Chicago, ago if he hopes to be re-elected next year, personally opened negotiations with a direct call to Carlson.

The two had been feuding for several years, chiefly because Ogilvie failed to support a one-serious move to install Carlson as Republican state chairman.

A compromise was worked out whereby Carlson would become an "agreed" candidate in the special February primary and April special election to fill the vacancy in the present 15th district, and then step aside for Arends in the 1972 elections for the new district.

County chairmen concerned—plus other area party leaders and legislators, including Mitchell—supported the agreement.

A serious primary fight apparently has been avoided. What benefits accrue to Carlson are not yet clear, but he is certainly back in the good graces of Ogilvie and other party leaders.

Similar unity efforts can be expected elsewhere in problem areas of Illinois as Republicans clear the decks for what is generally regarded as an uphill struggle in 1972.

For Republicans, the significant thing is that party harmony appears assured in one vital area of Illinois.

Similar unity efforts can be expected elsewhere in problem areas of Illinois as Republicans clear the decks for what is generally regarded as an uphill struggle in 1972.

State Expense Accounts Limited to $13 for Motels, $4.50 for Dinners -- Gov. Ogilvie

By GOVERNOR

RICHARD R. OGILVIE
"The best place for the taxpayer's dollar is in the taxpayer's pocket."

That statement by a committee named by me to investigate some isolated abuses of state expense accounts sums up the basic difference between expenses in government and in private business.

As the committee reported, the practices of business do not apply to government officials.

Entertainment and promotional expenses are a normal part of the cost of doing business for persons actually engaged in business.

"The standard in government is far more rigorous," the committee reported, "and expenses must be far more limited."

I agree, and since I serve as chairman of the Travel Control Board, I can and have put the lid on lavish or improper expense accounts.

In past years, favored employees were permitted to list their homes as their headquarters in defiance of the facts.

Once this was done, the employees then collected for their apartments and meals and other expenses when away from their headquarters.

We stopped the practice, and in the one instance where it re-occurred, the employee promptly paid back all he'd billed — plus interest.

We have one natural ally in our constant effort to keep expense account abuses to the minimum — the news reporter who knows how to dig out the vouchers on which expenses are listed.

He knows — as does any sensitive public official — how strongly the public reacts to such disclosures. It's difficult at best to establish in the news media the funds of a million-dollar federal grant program.

But a lavish or improper expenditure is easily found, simple to prove, and quite comprehensible to most quarters cities.

The Travel Control Board has set sharp limits on allowable expense while employees are actually away from their headquarters cities.

Breakfast expense is limited to $1.50, lunch to $2 and dinner to $4.50.

Overnight hotel or motel expense is limited to $13 outside the Chicago metropolitan area, where the limit is $15 a day.

In the rare cases where a mileage allowance is approved, the limit is 10 cents a mile.

The few recent incidents involving expense account practices prompted my appointment of the special committee, whose report I back strongly.

A prevailing presumption, the committee reported, is that expense not covered by travel regulations should be allowed if it relates to the work of the employee.

"We feel this presumption should be reversed," the committee reported.

"Directors should presume instead that any expense beyond the employee's basic salary is unnecessary. Only when necessity can it be demonstrated that the expense be allowed."

A case in point is the mealtime business conference which in one case was charged to the state. The committee reported:

"Individuals who decide to conduct business in that manner can and should pay for their own meal."

If an exceptional case can be shown, the limits of payment per meal in the travel regulations will apply.

Another instance involved the billing of the state for membership in a private club. The committee reported:

"If a state employee feels the need to belong to a social club, he must pay for the membership himself."

The committee also reviewed the rare practice of ranking state officials who charge for giving speeches or writing articles.

Henceforth, the committee recommended, all such fees received by any official who is subject to confirmation by the Senate shall be turned over to the state treasury.

The regulation would not apply, for example, to professors or lower-ranking officials who do additional work on their own time.

But it would apply to an executive "whose broad responsibilities make his time entirely the state's."

All these regulations — and our vigilance — are necessary in my judgment to reinforce the point that working for taxpayers is different from working in private enterprise.

I intend to enforce these regulations to the letter.

WE THINK AN ECONOMY FOUR-DOOR DART OUGHT TO GIVE YOU MORE THAN JUST A LOW PRICE.

1. It should give you room. Our new '72 Dodge Dart four-door sedan does. It's one of the roomiest compact cars around. A Dart sedan is big enough to be your only car. Room for six. Huge trunk. Great styling.

2. It should give you economy. Our Dodge Dart has gained a solid reputation for operating economy. A nationwide survey of 1971 Dart owners, based on nearly 3 1/4 million owner-driven miles, showed that the Dodge 225 Six averages between 16 and 20 miles per gallon.

3. It should give you lasting value. Today, there are well over a million compact Darts on the road. Older Darts are in brisk demand as used cars. (Dart's classic styling and solid dependability are two of the reasons.) We'll let Dart resale figures speak for themselves!

4. It should offer you a "special deal." For 1972, the famous Dart Swinger FREE AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION OFFER has been extended to include the Dart Custom four-door sedan, too. Buy either of these two new Darts, specially equipped with options such as vinyl roof, power steering, and more, and Dodge offers you the automatic transmission at no charge.

Book Analyzes State Legislatures

THE SOMETIMES GOVERNMENTS—A Critical Study of the 50 American Legislatures by the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures, by John Burns. Bantam Books; 357 pages; $1.95.

Reviewed by PAUL CORCORAN
Copley News Service

Few institutions more directly affect the lives of the American people than the 50 state legislatures.

Yet, perhaps less is known about how the state lawmakers work, how well informed they are, how well they perform their duties, and whether they are representative.

This book is an outline of the conclusions of the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures. It gives the grading of 50 legislatures as to function; accountability to constituents; how well informed they are; how well they perform their duties; and whether they are representative.

For example, California over all ranks No. 1 among effective legislatures; Alabama trails a distant 50th. A new code, the Alabama Code, has a relatively high seventh ranking.

The text is hardly scintillating, but it is provocative for anyone who wants to know more about the people who write the laws that control his daily life.

In a foreword, John Gardner, chairman of Common Cause and former U. S. secretary of commerce, is critical in general of the performance of state legislative bodies. But the blame does not rest on them alone.

"The grave shortcomings of state legislatures as instruments of a responsive and honest government must be laid primarily at the door of the American citizen," he wrote.

"... If the American people can be said to own their state legislatures, in any sense, they most certainly have been absentee landlords."

"Few institutions in our nation have been as consistently ignored and neglected by the average American."

The book has a brief but excellent glossary to help the layman understand legislative terminology, and the function of different groups within the structure of state government.

Finally, the book contains recommendations for improving legislatures, at least one of which applies to any one state.

The conclusion is that if all legislatures were to put such recommendations into practice within five or six years, new problems would arise that would make more reform necessary.

The strong point is made that one thing is certain about state government: it is not static, because it reflects the pace of every American in the 1970s.

Environment Battles to Heat Up

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — A reporter asked Environmental Protection Agency Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus if he would use a recycled candle on the EPA's first birthday cake.

"It hasn't come to that yet," said the bespectacled, energetic Ruckelshaus, going along with the attempt at humor.

With his agency's first anniversary due in December, Ruckelshaus hasn't found too much to joke about over the last year.

He has taken seriously the mandate given him by President Nixon to get tough with polluters.

But he has been somewhat surprised at the resentments caused in both government and industry over his manner in getting on with the job.

There is evidence that Ruckelshaus and his agency may be under even more fire during its second year, which just happens to fall in presidential election 1972.

Democratic candidate Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, who has praised the agency, sized up its current situation recently.

"The Environmental Protection Agency is in a hot spot, and it will get hotter rather than cooler."

Several issues will poke into the limelight within the coming months that will test the EPA's abilities.

Among them: —The DDT controversy. Ruckelshaus must submit another opinion on whether to institute an immediate ban on sales of the pesticide DDT on grounds that it represents an imminent hazard to human health.

Ruckelshaus thus far has ordered cancellation proceedings against the pesticide rather than calling for suspension.

—Auto emissions flap. Beginning Jan. 1, auto manufacturers will be empowered to petition EPA for a one-year delay in the scheduled 1975 deadline for control of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbon emissions.

A decision on such an application is certain to ignite controversy.

—Air pollution. By the spring of 1972 EPA will be required to accept or reject plans from all 50 states on whether they plan to meet new national air quality standards.

Ruckelshaus has hinted that some areas may have to institute traffic restrictions in order to achieve the necessary reductions.

In other words, Ruckelshaus might be in the position of having to tell some Americans they have to leave the family car at home and take a bus.

—Water pollution. Increased federal enforcement, directed by Ruckelshaus, is expected to be an outcome of congressional passage of omnibus water pollution control legislation. This is bound to be another area of controversy.

—Economic reverberations. With the administration concentrating on the right against inflation, Ruckelshaus' agitation for more spending on pollution control could anger executives of plant corporations.

Ruckelshaus' main accomplishment in the last year has probably been in organizing a crazy-quilt array of bureaucracies into an agency addressing itself to a single problem.

The EPA's budget for fiscal 1972 is $2.4 million and Ruckelshaus has been praised from several quarters for his firm hand on the fiscal and administrative controls.

His own image of the perennial and energetic optimist has been altered only slightly by reports that the White House has exerted some pressures on him to slow down a bit.

"How can we get people to stop viewing this issue of some disagreement as a gigantic cave-in? That's not to say there's no dispute over direction," Ruckelshaus said.

"But there seems to be a tendency to interpret what we do in terms of a struggle with the White House rather than in terms of struggle against pollution."

Stanley himself later returns to Africa on several expeditions, and helps notably to open the "dark continent" to colonization and development.

It's the things we leave out of a Volkswagen that make it work so well.

We leave out the radiator. So the engine will never boil over or freeze and leave you stranded somewhere. (Don't worry. It's air-cooled.)
We leave out the water hoses and water pump, too. Still fewer parts to break down and leave you stranded.
We leave out the drive shaft. You know the long bulky thing that transfers power from the engine up front to the drive wheels in back. (Always losing a little power along the way.)
Instead, we put the engine in back, right over the drive wheels. Where it'll put its power right to work moving the car.
As soon as we can think of something else to leave out, we'll leave it out. Just as soon as we can decide on the best place not to put it.

Dear Nana -- Diets Can Be Tricky at Any Age; Foster Grandparents Needed

By JACKIE STEFANICH
Copley News Service

Dear Nana: My husband and I are close to 80 yet we're both very healthy. And, we've never really needed a doctor. However, like most all older people we've been putting on weight in the last few years. So I'm sure we need to be on a diet.

Could you please recommend a good diet book that's for the older people? We feel that vitamins are good for those our age and we only eat 2 meals a day. Any hints you can give us on a diet that will keep us well will be appreciated.

Dear Greeting Cards: Thank you for the samples of your lovely greeting cards and the instructions for making them. I'm sure many of my readers will be interested in this type of a hobby as it sounds as if it could be a profitable project.

Are these greeting cards sold by those in your craft group? You neglected to mention this in your letter.

where I live we have a great group of craftsmen who do all sorts of crafts. One of our most popular projects is making our own greeting cards. Like everything else today they are so expensive to buy yet they cost so little to make yourself.

I've enclosed a few samples of the cards we make and the instructions for making them. I'm 87 and I still do all sorts of crafts, working with ceramics, painting, etc. And, I know how much these hobbies mean to those our age.

Greeting Cards: Thank you for the samples of your lovely greeting cards and the instructions for making them. I'm sure many of my readers will be interested in this type of a hobby as it sounds as if it could be a profitable project.

Are these greeting cards sold by those in your craft group? You neglected to mention this in your letter.

Dear Nana: I received your beautiful birthday cards today and it was a delightful surprise. Some time ago, I wrote to one of the children sponsored by the Helping Hand Club as a foster grandparent. And, I asked for a picture of the child so I'd know something about her. Since then I've heard from no one and I'd like to know what to do next.

How can you communicate with a child when all you know is her age? Perhaps you can advise me. After not hearing from this home I began to wonder if this project was all a joke.

I've always wanted a daughter but I only had one child, a son, who is very good to me. I do hope you can enlighten me on this matter.

Dear G. D.: The foster-grandparent project sponsored by the Helping Hand Club is by no means a joke. And, I've heard from many other foster grandparents who correspond with these children regularly. However, you neglected to give me the name of the home or the child's name you've written to. Without this information I can't advise you further.

Nevertheless, I'm sure there's a good reason why you haven't heard from the child, her family or the home where she lives. And, if you'll send me the above information I'll be more than happy to check into this matter for you.

Questions on problems of the elderly may be sent to Copley News Service, P.O. Box 190, San Diego, Calif. 92112.

Regional Highway Progress Hampered by Lack of Bids and Long Freeze

(Illinois Metro East Industrial Development Corporation)

The Illinois Division of Highways received bids on regional highway projects totaling $22 million, Hoeffken Bros. of Belleville, low bidder on two projects to construct about 10 miles of Interstate 64, submitted bids which fell below state estimates.

The only bid on improving the intersection at U. S. 50 and Illinois 159 in Fairview Heights was almost 9% over the state's estimate.

In related news, an East-West Gateway Coordinating Council task force met with Robert Kronst, engineer for Highway District Eight to discuss highway construction problems in St. Clair and Madison Counties. Kronst told the task force delegation that the main impact of the 23-month freeze on federally funded highway construction on this region's construction picture was the loss of millions of dollars in primary urban highway work. Funds not used in the district, within the year allocated, were diverted to other districts.

Kronst pointed out the area is still plagued by a lack of bids on some highway jobs, high construction costs and minority hiring problems. There were no bids this year on 27 area highway projects and only one bidder on 41 other projects.

On costs, Kronst noted that Madison and St. Clair projects have been 26.5% higher than the state average. On minority hiring, Kronst reported that some unions are failing to reach their quota of 20% minority workers.

U. S. Rep. Melvin Price, D-

East St. Louis, and U. S. Senator Charles Percy, R-Illinois, have appealed for an $8 million supplemental appropriation to ensure continued work on the Kaskaskia River navigation project. Without the additional funds, work in the New Athens area will be stopped and 450 employees will be dismissed.

Net income of $4.1 million or 40 cents per share for the third quarter of 1971 was reported by Chromalloy American Corp. This represents an increase from a net of $3.1 million or 29 cents per share in the like period of 1970. Sales in the quarter climbed to $120.7 million from $102.4 million.

In related news, National Steel Corp., the country's third largest steelmaker since its merger with Granite City Steel Co., reported a decline in net income in the third quarter to 22 cents a common share from $1.10 a share in the same quarter last year, and sales fell to $334 million from $397 million a year earlier.

General Steel Industries also reported a decline in sales and a net loss of $984,000, or 39 cents per share for the third quarter.

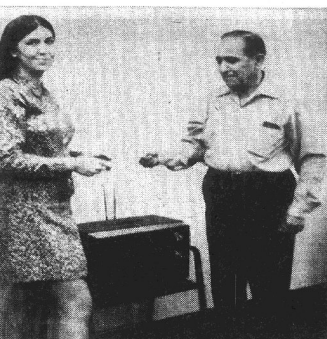

Members of the St. Louis Area Rapid Transit Authority went to Washington, D. C., to meet with Carlos C. Villareal, head of the Urban Mass Transportation Administration. UMTA is being asked to provide $800,000 in federal matching funds for the first of two years of preliminary engineering of the proposed 86-mile rapid transit system here. Local funds already have been requested of the states of Missouri and Illinois.

In news of annexations, the Marvillville village board of trustees has annexed an 18.24-acre tract of land, planned as the site of the First Bank of Marvillville; the Collinsville City Council, has taken preliminary steps to annex the Fairmount Park Race Track; and an effort is under way to annex Parkfield Terrace and a nearby portion of Centerville Township to the village of Cahokia.

In general area news, Francis J. "Red" Foley, chairman of the St. Clair County Board of Supervisors, moved up a notch from vice-chairman to chairman of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

A $2.92 million sewage treatment facility expansion and upgrading project for Alton was endorsed by the Gateway Council; the modern Security Agency of East St. Louis began operation of the Western Union Telegraph Co. on a commission basis; and a strike at a coal recovery project at the St. Elsen Mine in Caseyville Township near O'Fallon ended.

The scouts went with their leader, Mrs. Ruth Schreiber, to the Madison County Nursing Home to visit the patients. They presented candy treats to the patients and entertained them with a songfest, followed by a masquerade parade.

Assisting the leader were

During the Halloween festivities, prizes were won by Mrs. Zelores Kirkover for the costume of the "most pathetic character" and Mrs. Pat Henschbach won in the most original category.

Games were played and the members sang traditional songs. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Leach and Mrs. Gergen.

A low-calorie luncheon was served to those named and Mrs. Mary Nemeth, Mrs. Leona Benham and Mrs. Marjorie Pool.

HOLDS COSTUME PARTY

Salvation Army, Senior Citizens Among Agencies Depending Upon United Fund

When Ronald Kerley was 8 years old his family's home and all their belongings were destroyed in a flood. The Salvation Army put clothes on his back and food in his stomach. That's a pretty hard thing for a boy to forget.

The Salvation Army found the Kerley family a new home and Ronald attended Sunday School at the nearby Salvation Army chapel. His admiration for the Army grew into dedication to help others who are victims of circumstances.

Ronald saw the Army putting faith into action. Later, he graduated from the 4-year Salvation Army training program as an ordained minister.

The experiences of Captain Kerley point to some key services of the Salvation Army: aid to disaster victims (since September the Army has helped 3 families in the Quad-Cities area whose homes have burned); food and gift donations (toys for children, 700 Christmas baskets, and the needed coats or shoes—all from the Tree of Lights donations that go to special people at Christmas). One unique program is Operation Toy Life that provides gifts for prisoners to send to their children—with no mention of the Salvation Army or the prisoners.

Demonstrations Given At Decorating Center

Two demonstrations in wallpaper hanging were held during the weekend in the new Home Decorating Center of the Schermer Hardware Store, 4010 Pontoon Road.

Demonstrating new fashions in wallpapers and fabrics offered by Seabrook Wallcoverings, one of the major manufacturers represented at the center, was Jack Gould, local representative of the firm. Gould demonstrated and discussed how to match patterns, cut paper to fit windows, surface preparation and cost estimates.

Pre-pasted and cloth-backed vinyl wallcoverings are a feature at the center along with the Pittsburgh Paint line, Old Masters antiques, materials, drapery hardware, window shades and accessories.

Mrs. Bess Rucker and Gary Johnson are in charge of the new Home Decorating Center.

grams include Christmas mailing to servicemen, military induction kits, counseling, youth character-building groups, and a missing person's bureau run in conjunction with the Chicago office.

The United Fund allocation of $22,800 is spent strictly on the Army's welfare work — the budget for the United Fund and its activities is completely separate. The Salvation Army gathers broad community support through its board of directors composed of civic-minded businessmen.

The Salvation Army, now 106 years old, was founded by ex-Methodist minister William Booth, a skid row preacher in London. As the men on skid row came to faith, Booth told them to return to their home churches. The fancy churches looked down on their former members, and the rejected ones returned to Booth who started a mission church on their behalf.

As the mission grew, the church fathers forced Booth out of skid row. With the encouragement of his wife Booth started the Volunteer Army, but when his son claimed he was not a volunteer but a regular, Booth changed the name to the Salvation Army.

The Salvation Army started as a Gospel center, but Booth saw the need for food and clothing before people heard the Gospel message, and soon the Army was tagged "soup, soap, and salvation." Captain Kerley emphasized that there is no force to join the congregation just because you have received the soap and soup.

Plan New Building
The Salvation Army has plans for a new $275,000 brick structure. "We're not second-rate, an old building should not be either," said Captain Kerley.

"People don't understand what the Salvation Army is about. Our new chapel will include an all-purpose room for senior citizens' activities, a basement youth room with pool table, ping-pong, and classrooms. The welfare office will remain downtown at its present location."

Before the Fraternal Society of Retired Members had its own place, men sat in the park if the weather was nice—or alone in their boarding-house rooms if the weather was inclement.

What senior citizens have now is a place to just sit and shoot the breeze, or play pool, cards and checkers, or eat a few donuts and drink some coffee.

Six years ago the Fraternal Society opened with 40 charter members. This United Fund agency is now open ten hours a day, six days a week, to provide "a continuous gathering center for the retired people of the Quad-Cities. The Society now has about 290 members.

Solicit UF Aid

The men are interested in their organization and in the United Fund. As solicitors of the residential area, the retired people raise $1,200 of the $1,800 United Fund allocation themselves. This money covers the $100-a-month rent and utility bills. The men desperately need a new pool table, but the old people have patience.

"As long as we're getting by it's better not ask for any more," said President John Zabel.

The Fraternal Society of Retired Members was the brainchild of AFL-CIO Community Service program under the direction of Robert C. McCormick.

In starting the center for retirees Mr. McCormick fulfilled a function of Community Services — to analyze the needs of the community and to implement new programs to meet those needs.

Other Functions
Other functions of Community Services include putting agency services and individuals who need those services in touch with each other.

Mr. McCormick also sits on the policy-making boards of health and welfare agencies as a labor spokesman to see that agencies meet the needs of the labor community.

The AFL-CIO has authorized the Community Services program to be labor's representation in strengthening existing welfare programs and in increasing the participation of unions in community life.

Mr. McCormick is the AFL-CIO labor staff representative to the Tri-Cities Area United Fund, and through his offices in the United Fund headquarters Mr. McCormick is in a central location to direct people to community agency benefits.
